Lineman Apprenticeships

Electrical Power Linemen are the workers who build and maintain the power lines from the generating plants to all our homes, factories and stores. They work on the high-voltage transmission lines, the substations, the distribution lines and even run the wires to the customer’s meter.

How Long Does the Training Take?
To become a Journeyman Lineman, Journeyman Substation Technician or Journeyman Cable Splicer Technician, our programs require a minimum of 7,000 OJT hours, which usually takes 3 to 4 years. To become a Journeyman Traffic Signal Technician, the required minimum is 6,000 OJT hours. Once graduated from an apprenticeship program, the Journeyman Lineman can choose to stay working where they are or can take their skills and abilities to build power lines anywhere in the country – as a matter of fact, anywhere in the world.

How Do I Get Started?
Start earning and learning now! To be part of this win-win team, just contact the program nearest you to get started in a satisfying career that will last a lifetime.

For an individual to become an apprentice, all Outside Power Line- man Apprenticeship Programs require the following:

- must be at least 18 years old,
- must be a high school graduate or have a G.E.D.,
- must complete an application and have an oral interview with the program, and
- must be physically and mentally able to perform the work of the trade.

Veterans may be eligible for educational benefits while going through the apprenticeship training.

Is This Too Good to Be True?
Since 1941, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) and the National Electrical Contractors Association (NECA) have been working together as a successful partnership in training people to build electric power lines. The IBEW is the oldest and largest electrical union in the world. They recently celebrated their 100th anniversary and have over 700,000 members. NECA is the nation’s foremost association for electrical contractors. It has been representing, promoting and advancing the interests of the electrical contracting industry since 1901.

Electrician Apprenticeships

Electrical construction is a dynamic and diverse industry with specialized skills. The electrician must be able to layout, assemble, install, repair, and test entire electrical and electronics systems. Along with their electrical training, journeyperson electricians must have a complete working knowledge of blueprint reading and know the National Electric Code and local codes. There is, of course, the hazard of electrical shock and burns from "live" wires. Therefore, safe work practice is a must. Electricians must be mechanically inclined, physically fit and enjoy working with mathematical formulas. Electrical work is performed both indoors and outdoors in all temperatures and weather conditions.

You must:
- Be 17 years of age at application and 18 to be indentured
- Possess a high school diploma or GED (or in lieu of a high school diploma or GED, have a two year Associate Degree or higher)
- Successfully complete one credit of Algebra 1 (transcripts required)
- Reside in the geographical area
- Complete and score a qualifying score on the electrical trade’s aptitude test

 Individuals who can verify (by providing undisputable documenting evidence) that they have worked a minimum of four-thousand (4000) hours specifically in the electrical construction trade, will qualify for an oral interview by the J.A.T.C. to be considered along with other qualified applicants.

How do I prepare for the trade?
- Algebra, geometry, trigonometry
- Above average reading ability
- Physical science courses
- Mechanical drawing and blueprint reading

What are the program specifics?
- Length of program is 5 years
- A minimum of 8000 hours of on-the-job training
- A minimum of 900 hours of classroom related training
- Starting pay is 40% of journeyman wage

Where do I apply or receive additional training?
